LABOR FIELD

The graduate of the School of Medicine of Unibe...

Providing our future professionals with the knowledge, skills and capabilities, as well as the necessary attitude, that will allow them to be competent and competitive in any environment or situation they may find themselves in, both locally and globally.

Internationalization is one of our strengths. International agreements and conventions of our School allow our future doctors the opportunity to learn about medicine in different areas of the world and the possibility of comparing our health system and undergraduate professional training with that of other countries.
